

Accommodation Station

The Accommodation Station is a self-service facility from which a person with a disability can borrow an aid to make their visit to the Museum more comfortable.

It is located in Reception, at the bottom of the stairs which leads to the First Floor.

The Accommodation Station currently offers:

- Magnifying pages, with 3X and 5X magnifying power
- Sunglasses for light sensitivity
- Fidgets
- Ear defenders
- Sunflower lanyards, which let staff know if you have a hidden disability
- Folding stools.
- A wheelchair. (please ask at Reception to use this!)

We are working to increase the range of aids offered through the Accommodation Station. Soon a sensory map of the Museum will also be available through it.

The sign for our Accommodation Station.

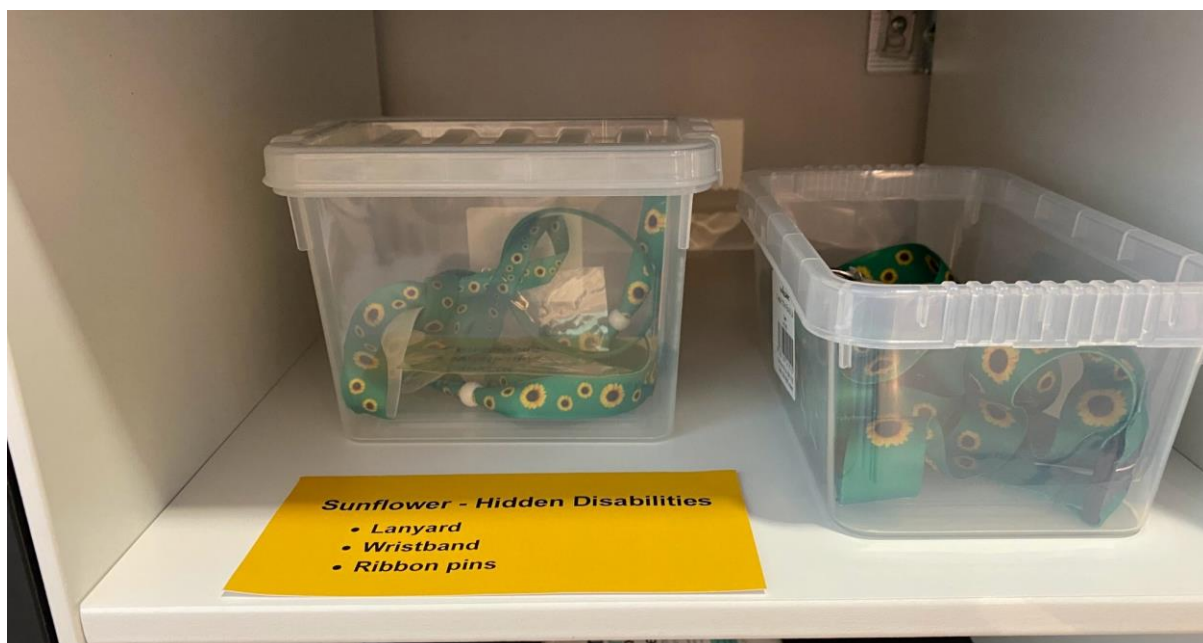

A photo of the ear defenders that can be borrowed.

A photo of some of the sensory fidgets that can be borrowed.

A photo of aids for people who are visually impaired. These include magnification pages and anti-glare dark sunglasses for people who are light sensitive.

A photo of the Sunflower lanyards, wristbands and ribbon pins. People with hidden disabilities can wear these to let museum staff and volunteers know that they may need patience or assistance during their visit.

Photograph of a person wearing a Sunflower Lanyard. They are showing us the Hidden disabilities card, as a person might do with staff during a visit in the Museum.